Biggar Little Festival's Open Studio Trail is now in its 5th year. Over the years it has gone from strength to strength, with more local artists wanting to join the trail and is now held over 3 days with 20 artists contributing.

The trail showcases a range of talented local artists and gives you the chance to plan your route over the weekend and pay a visit to as many as you can. The artists open up their studios/homes for you to view their work, chat with them and often enjoy delicious cake! This year's trail is being showcased throughout the Festival in a special exhibition and information point at the Corn Exchange in Biggar (see map).

The maps inside this leaflet are only for reference purposes and are there to just give you an idea of how you might plan your route. All the studios have postcodes which you can use on phones and sat navs to find your way and phone numbers if you need directions. Look out for the large boards outside each studio with the corresponding letter.

It really is worthwhile making a weekend of it and paying a visit to as many as you can and enjoying all the talent our area has to offer. Please check the dates and times each studio is opening as they do vary slightly.

Remember to check out the Biggar Little Festival website and facebook page for up to date information on the whole festival.
